

Website Literally Inspired By A Dream Is Helping Deployed Military Give Back To Their Families

b Buzz Up | Send | Share | Print

Mon May 4, 8:00 am ET

RELATED QUOTES

^DJI	8,305.52	+5.50
^GSPC	897.72	+4.66
^IXIC	1,732.88	+1.80

TheHolidayPatrol.com is helping active duty military provide gifts to their families while they're on deployment during the holidays.

Middletown, CT (PRWEB) May 4, 2009 -- TheHolidayPatrol.com, which was founded on the owner's actual dream, are putting themselves into US soldiers shoes; empathy-wise, that is. They are dedicating a large portion of their company to helping deployed military give gifts back to their families while while they're away during the holidays.

The unique company is a Complete Online Gift Arrangement Service that shops, gift-wraps and ships to whomever their customer wants, whenever their customer wants, on their behalf, with the privilege of pre-ordering gifts up to a year in advance. The website takes care of the entire gifting process from start to finish. "Their mission is to make sure loved ones are never forgotten."

"Our brave men and women receive so much love, support and gifts from their families, but they aren't able to show them the love back through the gift of giving" says The Holiday Patrol owner, Jennifer Bagnaschi. "That's why we want to help our soldiers first hand."

Bagnaschi and her husband Ed, knows first hand what it's like to be separated during major holidays due to military deployment. In 2002, Ed, an ex-navy sailor, was deployed on the USS Camden to the Persian Gulf for 11 months, missing every birthday, anniversary, and traditional US holiday.

"I would get tons of gifts from home while I was out to sea, but I felt bad because I could never give anything back. I had to wait until I got back to the States to give my family presents," Ed Bagnaschi says.

TheHolidayPatrol.com had been promoting their services to residential and commercial settings, but has come to the conclusion that "the Active Duty Military needs this most." The company knows that millions of soldiers have children that wish their deployed fathers or mothers could be present for their birthdays, graduations or weddings, or have anniversaries spent away from their spouse, and know that just a simple gift could maybe give them a feeling that their deployed loved-one is there for a moment, or at least has thought of them.

The service allows users to select from an array of gift categories including flowers, chocolates, tools, electronics, toys, jewelry, gift baskets, to name a few. The Holiday Patrol's inventory includes items from Bath & Body Works, Zales, Sephora, K.B. Toys, RadioShack, and more. Almost all gifts are valued between $50 and $100.

As word about The Holiday Patrol spreads, military men and women are expressing their gratitude. US Navy Chief Doug Erwin, currently stationed in Guam, USA proclaims, "This is the greatest ideal!" As a member of Maritime Expeditionary Security, my unit is highly deployable and is gone at a moment's notice. The peace of mind provided by the Holiday Patrol is phenomenal! The service provided by the Bagnaschi couple, with their experiences in the military, adds a personal touch and a feeling of family. I know when I place an order, delivery is guaranteed. "When deployed, my clear choice for gift delivery during birthdays and holidays is The Holiday Patrol."

Contact:
Jennifer Bagnaschi, CEO/Founder
The Holiday Patrol, LLC
800-996-0437
contact@TheHolidayPatrol.com
http://www.TheHolidayPatrol.com

Top Stories

- US, S. Korea put militaries on alert over N. Korea
- Government Motors: Can reinvention save GM?
- Interest groups already engaged in nominee battle
- Bombs explode in Pakistan city; gunmen ambush police
- 7.1 earthquake topples homes, kills 4 in Honduras
- 1 in 8 homeowners behind on mortgage or in foreclosure
- Mom in fake abduction case used ex-colleague's ID

More Top Stories

ADVERTISEMENT

Comfort, quality and selection. All at a great price.

Roll over for more backyard ideas

Walmart
Save money. Live better.

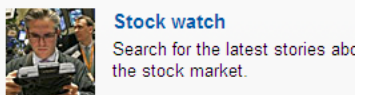

sponsored links

- Military Nursing
Careers as Unique as You. Schedules that fit your life.
www.multicarejobs.org
- Military Greeting Cards
Welcome Home, Thank You, Congratulations
Free shipping on 6 or more.
www.youneek.com
- Certified Military Resume Service
Certified military-to-civilian resume writing 100% guaranteed to get you more interviews and job offers fastly.
www.employment911.com

Featured

Some parents are reining in the little girls' princess obsession during the recession.

Stock watch
Search for the latest stories about the stock market.